ArtisticLandscape

SCULPTURENOW

A walk through Edith's gardens

Take a stroll through Edith Wharton's home The Mount in Lenox and explore SculptureNow's exhibition of large-scale outdoor sculptures. Nature meets art meets nature again as you reflect on the 30 pieces scattered around the expansive grounds.

"Nexus 2017" is open now through Oct. 31. Free tours are scheduled for July 16, Aug. 13, Sept. 17 and Oct. 15, all starting at 1:30 p.m.

For additional information, visit sculpturenow.org, edithwharton.org, or call 413-623-2068.

"Twelve Cuboid Stack, I" by David Teeple. "My work centers on water as a subject, a material, and an idea. In this sculpture. I am interested in how the reflections and refractions create a new perceptual experience," said Teeple of his work, above, in the "Sheep" by Madeleine Lord. Lord was inspired by a pile of galvanized scrap metal, which she said made her think of steel wool.

datio n In nature nderstand this as beauty," lethenv said of his work.

'The Beauty o Nature old Grinspoon. The artist was pired by givin aged out of the